BICYCLES? NO. SAILBOATS, YES!--This sailboat drew a few chuckles Wednesday when it was parked for awhile on the grass right behind a "No Bicycles Allowed" sign. The boat is being displayed by the SIU Sailing Club. Pictured behind the sign are Skip Miller and Paul Nolan, club members, and stopping to read the sign are Sue Fowler and Denny Nelson.

New Fall Enrollment Forms To Comply With Rights Act

Students registering for fall term will be required for the first time to fill out a new information card to give enrollment data in compliance with the U.S. Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Robert McGrath, University Registrar, announced Wednesday that the card will be filled out as part of the registration process.

Information to be gathered includes sex and race. Information on those students refusing to fill out the card will be recorded from visual observation by a University employee.

However, McGrath said in a statement that none of the information will be released concerning individual students. Release "will be permitted only for authorized reasons and on an impersonal basis," McGrath said.

Gathering of the specific information is being required for the first time by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to insure that civil rights laws are being complied with.

In addition, data will be collected on admissions practices, foreign students, University housing, athletic scholarships, financial assistance and work programs, and student activities and services.

In the past, no data was kept on race, and estimates were given to HEW. The Board of Trustees authorized the change to specific information in January, at the request of HEW.

Temporary Buildings Given New Numbers

Some confusion in locating classes has resulted for many SIU students because the temporary buildings on campus have been renumbered and are now identified by a four-digit number.

The former code was used in the spring quarter bulletin of classes, but the class schedules were issued using the new numbering system.

The summer quarter bulletin contains a listing of the temporary buildings, their location, and both the former code number and the new designation. A spokesman at the registrar's office said several listings are also posted at various locations on campus. Temporary buildings have been renumbered as follows: T073 to 0403; T138-0412; T188-0415; T171-0429; T173-0431; T081-0432; T169-0436; T283-0437; T177-0438; T310-0442; H077-0451; T189-0452; T206-0453; T116-0461; T277-0465; T282-0481; T279-0483; T296-0485.

T288-0487; T042-0551; T041-0552; T316-0685; T084-0701; T165-0725; T175-0742; T182-0744; T025-0821; T020-0823; T029-0831; T048-0832; T026-0833; T027-0834; H033-0841; H027-0842; H026-0843; T129-0857; H031-0859; T106-0861.

SIU Legal Counsel

Lorek Seeks States Attorney Post

An SIU legal counsel has announced that he will run as a write-in candidate for the Republican nomination for States Attorney of Jackson County in the June primary.

Ted Lorek, assistant legal counsel since 1963, said he intends "to correct the attitude of disappointments concerning the treatment of serious crimes in Jackson County."

Lorek said he would strive for better cooperation between the University in the handling of student misbehavior problems in the community.

"We don't want the stigma of a criminal connection and criminal record attached to a student because he slips up once and is arrested for a minor disturbance such as disturbing the peace or the like."

Lorek said the Office of Student Affairs has sufficient machinery to handle such minor cases.

Lorek is married and has three children. "Southern Illinois is going to be my permanent home," he said. His wife, Barbara is an English instructor at SIU. They live near Carbondale.

According to Lorek, the use of University facilities would take much of the burden off the county court system and permit more time for handling more serious criminal cases. At SIU, Lorek has also been a lecturer for the Police Institute on Criminal Law and at the Vocational Rehabilitation Institute.

If Lorek gets the Republican nomination he will be running against Richard E. Richman, Democratic incumbent, who is seeking his second term.

Lorek is a member of the Illinois State Bar Association and the Jackson County Bar Association.

Lorek, 31, received both his Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Law degrees from the University of Illinois. He served two years in the U.S.

Air Force and has been a resident of Southern Illinois for five years.

According to Lorek, he has been consulted by many students during his years at SIU concerning problems involving minor offenses.

"After a student is arrested for such a charge he has to either represent himself or hire an attorney," he said. "Self representation is almost always futile, and the cost of hiring representation is a burden most students cannot afford."

Lorek believes that many of these cases involving students can be and should be left with the University.

Senate To Seek Scholarships For Its Members

The Student Senate voted Wednesday to seek tuition scholarships for its members and authorized a public conference on educational reform.

The bill on scholarships authorizes the Senate chairman to contact University administrators and investigate the feasibility of the proposal.

During considerable debate on the bill, opponents charged that such a move should come only after the Senate has accomplished more in the way of service to students. Others argued that granting of scholarships to senators would offend some students.

Supporters of the bill said such compensation would attract more qualified students to membership and would allow some to drop jobs they currently hold.

The conference on educational reform, to be held before May 1, will discuss revision of the grading system and curriculum requirements, teacher-student relationships, the impact of technology on education, who should make the curriculum and the totality of the educational experience.

Senator Jerry Finney, in submitting the bill, referred

Clarence Dougherty

University Center Director Named To Union Position

Clarence Dougherty, director of University Center, has been appointed Region 9 representative of the Association of College Unions-International, effective April 11.

Founded in 1914, the body is composed of 800 member college unions in the United States, Canada, Japan, Britain, South America and the Middle East. Region 9 is comprised of college unions in Illinois, Indiana and Western Tennessee.

Dougherty said the union provides representatives of member institutions the opportunity to discuss problems and solutions related to operation of student centers and to help operators do a better job of serving their respective institutions.

Dougherty came to SIU in 1960 from Ohio State University. He has directed the University Center at Carbondale since its inception.

Textbook Writer Visits in Mexico

Herman Haag, SIU professor of agricultural industries, was in Mexico City recently to meet with Jose Soto Angli, who is editing Haag's Spanish-language textbook on agricultural marketing.

Haag visited the Monterey Institute of Technology and Higher Studies to discuss the institution's new curriculum on agricultural business, and met there with representatives of the Ford Foundation.

Haag's book was written after he discovered the need of a Spanish-language text for Mexican students. Haag taught at the Monterey Institute for seven months in 1966.

Opera Workshop Begins June 17

A summer of operatic study in a sylvan environment will be available for those college students accepted in the 11th annual Summer Opera Workshop, scheduled for June 17-July 27.

This workshop, conducted by Marjorie Lawrence, is held each year at her 400-acre Harmony Hills Ranch near Hot Springs, Ark.

Limited living accommodations are available for some of the workshop students at the ranch.

The singers participate in one concert of sacred music and, at the end of the six-week course, in a concert of operatic excerpts.

Inquiries concerning the workshop should be addressed to Robert House, chairman, Department of Music, SIU, Carbondale. Registration must be closed by June 1.

Miss Lawrence, now research professor at SIU, directs the University Opera Workshop on the University campus during the academic year.

'Making of Saluki' Won't Be Presented

The play, "The Making of a Saluki, 1968," has been cancelled by the Activities Programming Board.

The satirical review of campus life was planned to be presented Saturday and Sunday in Shryock Auditorium. The lack of cast cooperation and sufficient rehearsal time were the reasons for the cancellation.

Historian Speaks

SIU History Professor Harry Ammon gave a public lecture at Morven Park, Leesburg, Va., March 22.

Ammon spoke on "The Monroes of Oak Hill and the White House." The program was the first of a series of public lectures sponsored by the Westmoreland Davis Foundation in cooperation with the Loudoun County (Va.) Historical Society.

Author of several publications on James Monroe, Ammon was a visiting professor at the University of Graz, Austria.

next week, according to William Norman, city manager.

Norman said arrangements are being made to hold the meeting at the earliest possible date. The board will undertake the task of finding and publicly announcing all of the underlying causes of the recent city employee walkout.

The board has also been asked by the council to recommend actions which should be taken to eliminate the causes leading to the walkout and prevent any recurrence.

Among the members are three persons on the SIU faculty. They are Orville

McClure to Address Group on Vietnam

George McClure, professor of philosophy, will address the Political Action Committee of the Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam at 7:30 p.m. today at the Student Christian Foundation.

McClure is a candidate for delegate to the Democratic National Convention from the 21st Congressional District.

The same organization will hold a general meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday at the same place. All interested persons are invited to both meetings.

Iranian Professor, Wife To Be Honored Friday

Mozaffa Bekhrad, professor of chemistry and director general of Tehran University in Iran, and Mrs. Bekhrad are visiting SIU. They are parents of Miss Farideh Bekhrad, a graduate student in economics at SIU.

The Bekhrads will be honored Friday at 4 p.m. when the International Student Services will sponsor a tea at the International Student Center. All Iranian students on the campus are invited.

Support Kerner's Riot Commission

Following the disastrous riots our country witnessed during last year's 'long hot summer,' President Lyndon Johnson selected a commission headed by Governor Otto Kerner of Illinois to delve into the causes and reasons for the mass destruction and shooting in the cities.

The purpose of the commission was to come up with reasons for the riots in order to allow the local, state and federal governments to attempt to correct injustices which may have occurred and led to the unrest in the cities.

At the time the commission undertook the job, Gov. Kerner and the other members were under the impression that the public would have a willing ear to their findings. Thus the commission set out to do as an extensive and thorough study as possible.

However, when the commission's findings were announced over a month ago, criticism and indifference pervaded the opinions of many governmental officials. Former vice president and present presidential candidate Richard Nixon was highly critical as to whether the commission had actually determined the causes of the riots.

President Johnson, who less than a year ago was so anxious to get to the heart of the problem in the cities, was very unresponsive and indifferent to the conclusions brought forward by the commission. The president expressed no opinion whatsoever for six days concerning the commission's findings. Then when he finally spoke out regarding the report, he was critical of it in "many instances."

The president took the recommendations of the commission as a personal attack on the administration's existing programs. Johnson was offended because the report did not praise the programs which have been developed or proposed during his administration. In effect, however, this was not the purpose of the report—to praise existing conditions.

Some city officials have shrugged off the commission's charge that "white racism" was the primary factor in the outbreak of the cities.

Many persons are asking "Why has Johnson refused to express himself on the riot commission's report which he so anxiously organized last summer?"

One reason is that the commission's proposals would cost a great deal of money and rather than be forced into financing the programs by acknowledging the report, Johnson has ignored it.

It appears that all the gallant efforts of the commission will go to waste unless city, state and federal government officials accept the advice of the "experts."

Letters Welcome

It is the policy of the Daily Egyptian to encourage free discussion of current problems and issues. Members of the University Community are invited to participate with members of the news staff and students enrolled in journalism courses in contributing items for this page with the understanding that acceptance for publication will depend upon the limitations of space and the apparent timeliness and relevance of the material. Letters must be signed, typed and should be no longer than 250 words. Contributors should respect the generally accepted standards of good taste and the rights of others and are urged to make their points in terms of issues rather than personalities. It is the responsibility of the Egyptian to select the material to be used. Contributors also should include address and phone number with a letter so that the identity of the author can be verified.

so called "view points that were completely ignored."

The Egyptian did in fact get in touch with me but I preferred not to make any statements at that time. Now, it seems I am forced to do so. This then is no fault of the Egyptian for not presenting my view points.

Mr. Evans, to me, was right in his decision to ask for my resignation. No Resident Fellow has the right to accept the responsibility of making decisions that are, contrary to the rules and regulations set up by the University and the State.

After reconsideration, however, Dean Serra reinstated me on the basis of my past performance and personal qualifications as a Resident Fellow.

We hope that these fire drills in Neely will cease, but if there happens to be another, I'm sure that 4th floor will be close to first to evacuate. Meanwhile, let us let this subject burn and rest in peace.

'Thank You' For Hike

To the Daily Egyptian:

As a former student and now a servicemen serving in and out of Vietnam, it makes me proud to have been a student at SIU when I recently read of the hike from Carbondale to Chicago by three Southern students who were raising money for the United Services Organization.

I get very tired of seeing newspapers filled with articles of draft card burners and eligible servicemen fleeing to Canada. Articles of the pro-war type deserve much more coverage by major newspapers than is now seen.

I would like to say a sincere "thank you" to Bill Holden, Jerry Sigmund, and Jack Morris and hope that their trip was very successful. I also hope that the citizens of the town take notice of their trip and intentions and give generously to a very worthwhile organization.

American Responsibility

On Shedding a War

Why don't we train more Vietnamese troops and gradually turn over to them the responsibility for defending South Vietnam? This is the bright suggestion that is becoming increasingly popular among politicians and others who cannot decide what else to say about the war. It sounds good. It offers the hope that American troops can somehow soon be disengaged from the struggle. All we need do is hand over the war to the people we are supposedly helping to defend their independence.

There is one slight defect in the idea. It ignores the fact that for 14 years American policy has been directed toward the objective now so naively advanced. From the beginning—from the very day John Foster Dulles decided to undermine the Geneva agreements, and frustrate their purpose of leaving Vietnam's future to the Vietnamese people—American policy has been based on the notion of training, guiding and directing the South Vietnamese people to set up and defend an anti-Communist state.

We have spent billions of dollars to establish, train and equip the South Vietnamese army. We have spent more billions to prop up one Saigon government after another. From the era of relatively few American advisers to the present phase of an overwhelming military presence, the object has been the same—to build a South Vietnam which could stand on its own feet.

The policy has failed. It began failing when Ngo Dinh Diem, our agent, alienated his people with the harsh repression and corruption of his regime. It continued to fail when his military successors showed no better capacity to deal with the basic problems of the country. It went smash altogether in 1965 when the Viet Cong had won so much popular support that they were on the point of taking over the country. Only our massive American military intervention prevented their victory. But by making the war our own we did not win popular support for our clients in Saigon, and nothing since has won it.

Thus the idea of turning over the war to the South Vietnamese is an evasion of the real problem. We've tried that solution, and it didn't work. Now the task is to find a way of correcting the enormous blunder we made in supposing that the military power of a foreign, white, Western nation could solve the essentially political, social, internal problems of an Asian people in revolution against Western colonialism.

'If We Buried Chances for Peace at Least Some Terrorist Camps Got Buried With It'

Most Men Go

Antidraft-More Noise than Substance

By Linda Mathews
Los Angeles Times

As far as the Justice Department is concerned, the "We Won't Go" petitions and antidraft furore in the universities amount to so much sound and fury. It still appears that when young men are called by Uncle Sam, they go—no matter how they may protest.

Department officials here are unimpressed by the annual total of draft violators and have released statistics which they claim point up the basic ineffectiveness of the antiwar movement.

In 1967, it was reported that 1,648 men were prosecuted nationally for violation of Selective Service law, accounting for less than 1% of all draftees. Charges were dropped against many who finally agreed to enter the Army and 952 were convicted.

U.S. Atty. Matthew Byrne says even these figures inflate the actual amount of draft resistance in the country, since only half of the convictions were of men who refused induction into the armed services.

The others, Byrne said, are men who were classified as conscientious objectors by their draft boards but then refused to perform the noncombatant duty required by law, such as serving as medics at the front. Many are Jehovah's Witnesses who decline to serve the government in any fashion.

Even the total number of violators, compared with the number of service inductees, still runs far behind those of the two world wars. Maj. Elvin Higdon, a spokesman for the national Selective Service office, said in a telephone interview last week.

Convictions under the draft laws since 1964—when infantry troops were first sent to Vietnam—number 1,760. During that time, 1,100,000 men have been inducted by Selective Service, for a conviction rate of 1.6 per thousand draftees.

During World War II, Higdon said, 28,773 men were convicted of draft crimes, while 10,007,000 were inducted, a rate of 2.4 convictions per thousand inductions.

Statistics for World War I are harder to come by, but preliminary findings indicate that more than 10,000 men were convicted of the single offense of refusing to register and another 26,000 of "slack activities," a category which includes everything from refusing to be inducted to wasting typing paper.

During World War I, there were 2,818,000 inductees. Using only the 10,000 figure, that means there were 3.7 draft violators per thousand draftees.

Higdon conceded that the relatively higher percentage of draft violations during World War II as compared with Vietnam may be misleading, since many of the draft crimes then, especially during 1942 and 1943, involved men who had simply failed to register with their boards. Many had their sentences suspended and subsequently complied with the law.

"Some of those (World War II) figures don't represent actual draft 'resisters,' as we know them today, but there's no way of figuring out how many refused induction and how many failed to register," he explained.

Antiwar organization leaders dispute these interpretations of the draft statistics and point out that the Justice Department's own figures show that resistance is on the rise: convictions are up 78% from 1966 and 272% from 1965.

Comparing Vietnam war figures with those for the two world wars is invalid, members of the Los Angeles Resistance maintained, because there has been no general mobilization.

"It's like comparing the swamping of a sailboat with the sinking of the Titanic—of course there aren't as many people affected," one said.

"The figures for 1967 don't even represent an accurate picture of antidraft activities for the year," complained William Garaway, a leader of the Resistance. "Selective Service and the Justice Department haven't caught up with violations and are now prosecuting people for actions that were taken a year ago."

Garaway said that, for example, many people who refused induction during national "Stop the Draft Week" last October have yet to be investigated. The number of men refusing induction and seeking draft counselling has risen dramatically in the past few months and they are not included in the department's figures, he claimed.

Antidraft spokesmen also predict a spiraling resistance rate this summer, as men are drafted out of the graduate schools, which have been centers of war dissent. "It's going to blow their minds," Garaway said, referring to predicted increases in induction refusals. "Since the announcement about the end of graduate student deferments, we've had 100 people a week coming into this office and asking for help—and this is one of 20 offices in Los Angeles alone."

Another Resistance member pointed to increased antidraft activity on campuses:

1—A group operating on the Berkeley campus, called the Campus Draft Opposition, is now in the process of circulating a "We Won't Go" pledge nationally and hopes to get 20,000 signatures from college seniors and first-year graduate students by June.

2—On two other campuses, Columbia and Harvard, 40% of graduating seniors have declared in public polls they will go to jail or to Canada rather than be inducted.

"All this is more than just rhetoric," he claimed. "The U.S. attorney here is already getting indictments for an average of eight to ten men a week. And once you're indicted in this system, you're convicted. People can figure out what 10 men a week adds up to over a whole year."

Byrne admits that an upsurge in draft resistance is possible, though he contends that many men who sign statements will back down when they receive their draft notices.

"Parents who tell their sons that they'll ruin their lives if they go to Canada or to jail are not hysterical. They're just realistic," said Robert L. Brosio, chief of the complaint division of the U.S. Attorney's office. Brosio directs the prosecution of draft violators.

"A man convicted of a felony cannot vote, cannot serve in the professions or work for the government. Many firms won't touch him. That's a pretty bleak future for a young man, especially for one bright and ambitious enough to get into graduate school. Not many are willing to ditch prospects for a career in order to escape immediate danger."

Brosio said he was dubious about Resistance predictions for huge increases in draft violations.

"You can't tell about the older men, the 22 and 23-year-olds who are going to be drafted," Brosio warned. "It's possible that their feelings about the war may be more rigid and they may refuse induction in larger numbers."

"On the other hand, these guys are more mature. Perhaps they'll realize what they stand to lose."

Despite threats of rising draft resistance, Byrne anticipates no need for further manpower in his office to handle prosecutions, noting that Brosio can handle all cases now working.

He denied reports that the Justice Department has set up special teams and task forces just to handle Selective Service cases.

"Sure, there's a so-called 'task force' of one man in Washington, whose job is to handle cases like (Dr. Benjamin) Spock's," he said. "But that's hardly a run-of-the-mill draft case, for those men are, after all, charged with conspiracy."

Students Report on Red China

By Edward Neilan
Copley News Service

HONG KONG—Heavy traffic of priority goods to North Vietnam is the cause of frequent rail disruptions inside Communist China, a group of visiting students was told recently.

A group of Australian and New Zealand students have returned to Hong Kong from a 25-day journey through Communist China where they heard many slurs against Soviet support for North Vietnam and North Korea.

Members of the group, which comprised 56 students, said during a press conference here they were told by the Chinese that Soviet tanks and bombers which appeared in North Vietnam recently were "obsolete."

The students said Chou Yi-yueing, a vice minister for cultural relations with foreign countries, gave a lengthy briefing in which he consistently referred to the Soviet Union as "the revisionists" and condemned Moscow for not giving strong support to North Korea over the USS Pueblo affair.

Several students in the group said the Chinese expressed confidence that the North Vietnamese would be able to defeat the Americans by themselves but that China would send in volunteers if requested by Hanoi.

There was no sign that China was now sending forces to North Vietnam, one student said.

One of the students in the group, which visited several cities in Communist China in the course of the tour, was told by a Chinese official that North Vietnam and China were as close as "lips and teeth."

A. Harvey, of New South Wales University, said, "I was told that China had given (North Vietnamese President) Ho Chi Minh assurance of full support."

"They told us that between 20,000 and 50,000 allied troops, including nine American battalions and one Australian battalion, were 'disintegrated' during the recent spring offensive."

Robert Reece, Queensland University, was on his second visit to China within a year.

"The excitement of the cultural revolution that I saw last time was over now. The Red Guards were almost out of sight."

Other students remarked that schools seemed to be opening again and that extensive attention was being paid to educational reform, including the combining of work experience with classroom study.

This view, however, contradicted a recent article in a Hong Kong evening Communist newspaper which advised parents here not to send their children to schools on the mainland since the higher level schools were not yet ready to receive them.

Chinese officials told the students that Peking was not interested in "taking over" Hong Kong just now.

"Hong Kong will come to us in time," a Chinese Communist Party official was quoted as saying.

One student described the People's Liberation Army soldiers as the most "unmilitary looking" he had ever seen.

The student said the PLA were playing the role of police, social workers as well as ordinary laborers and factory workers.

He said relatively few soldiers were seen in Peking, Shanghai and Canton, but large numbers were evident in Changsha and Wuhan.

Another student noted that most of the soldiers he had seen in China were not armed. Only a few carried rifles.

Several students remarked that the country seemed to be in the midst of a strong political campaign. As visitors, they were invited to join in the criticism almost as a matter of ordinary courtesy.

"You could criticize anything except Chairman Mao Tse-tung," said one student.

The students' requests for interviews with Chairman Mao, Premier Chou En-lai and Foreign Minister Chen Yi were turned down, they said.

Reece, the student who had visited China earlier a few months ago, noted that China had stopped using the term "fascists" in describing British subjects. He said the term was very common last summer during his visit.

Paul Niall, a final year medical student at Sydney University, said the people he saw were, in general, "well fed."

"My impression was that most of the people were eating vegetables more than meat, although there was some meat and fish available."

The student tour was arranged by the Overseas Services branch of the Australian National Students Union.

'Salute to Walt Disney' Theme

Spring Festival to Start May 10

"A Salute to Walt Disney" will be the theme of the three-day spring festival scheduled to begin May 10 which will include an appearance by Bob Hope.

The midway featuring shows, booths and displays will open at 6 p.m. Friday, May 10, and will run until 12 p.m. It will be open Saturday, May 11, from 4 to 9 p.m. and will be followed by a dance until midnight.

Bob Hope will crown Miss Southern and present trophies for the midway shows at a stage show scheduled for 8 p.m. May 12 in the SIU Arena.

The five semi-finalists in the Miss Southern contest will be announced Saturday evening, May 4, by the current Miss Illinois.

Contestants must be students who have completed at least 24 hours with an overall grade point of 3.0 or better at the beginning of Spring quarter. Senior and graduate students are eligible.

The winner will be SIU's candidate in the Miss Illinois pageant.

Applications for both the Miss Southern contest and midway entries are available at the Information Distribution Rack in the University Center.

Applications for Miss Southern are due by 5 p.m. April 17 at the Student Activities Office while the deadline for midway applications is 5 p.m. April 19 at the same office.

Bus Service Use Increases With University Acceptance

Use of the bus service has steadily grown due to increased participation and acceptance by the university community, according to George Patterson, coordinator of Campus Bus Service.

Patterson said the service will continue to operate on the same schedule as winter quarter.

Buses will depart from the University Center at five minutes past the hour 8:05 a.m. through 9:05 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and until 5:05 p.m. on Friday.

Buses will run from 8:05

a.m. until 12:05 p.m. on Saturday.

Schedules and information on the Bus Service are available at the University Center or at the office of Auxiliary and Service Enterprises in Room 103 of Shryock Auditorium.

Pickups are made at all stops designated by the bus signs and passengers are discharged at any safe corner on the route, Patterson said.

The fare will remain 10 cents per ride for students, faculty and staff.

Music, Fine Arts to Host Beethoven, Brahms Concert

The Department of Music and the School of Fine Arts will host a concert on Friday, April 5, at 8 p.m. in Shryock Auditorium.

Arthur Winograd, guest conductor, will lead the Southern Illinois Symphony in a concert and an overture by Beethoven. He will also conduct Symphony No. 2 by Johannes Brahms.

On Saturday, April 6, the American Folk Ballet will perform at SIU in the Celebrity Series. The performance, "The Prairie Years," will be held at Shryock Auditorium. It is a salute to the Illinois Sesquicentennial.

There will be an American Guild of Organists Student Recital at the First Methodist Church, in Carbondale on Tuesday, April 9.

The three performances will conclude the concerts for April sponsored by the Department of Music and the School of Fine Arts at SIU.

Some State Party Leaders Reluctant to Support LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—Although 14 of 24 Democratic governors are listed as Johnson supporters, administration lieutenants are finding that many state party leaders are reluctant to stand up and be counted for President Johnson's renomination.

A large share of these potential defectors to Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., are turning up in the 26 states that have Republican governors.

These states will have

Two Killed As Jet, Light Plane Collide

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An Ozark Air Lines DC-9 jet collided with a light plane Wednesday but landed safely at Lambert-St. Louis Airport.

Ozark spokesman John Hexter said none of the passengers or crew on the commercial jet was believed injured. The DC-9 was en route from Chicago to St. Louis, Hexter said.

Police in the St. Louis suburb of Hazelwood, Mo., said the light plane came down on a street near a Ford Motor Co. assembly plant.

1,382 votes at the Democratic convention in Chicago next August, 70 more than needed for the nomination.

An Associated Press survey disclosed that 14 Democratic governors are supporting the President, six are noncommittal, one is threatening to leave Johnson over Vietnam, one backs Kennedy and two are for former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

In Republican-governed states Johnson will have to win contested primaries to get the delegations of five states—Wisconsin, Nebraska, Oregon, California and South Dakota. In none of these is the President currently looked upon as the favorite.

In Nebraska, where McCarthy will be a challenger, the White House induced former Gov. Frank Morrison, as well as the state chairman and national committeeman, to come out publicly for Johnson.

But the delegation's 30 votes will go to the winner of the primary. Kennedy has booked himself into Lincoln, Neb., Thursday for a university speech and a meeting with Democratic officials. McCarthy will be going in as soon as he completes his Wisconsin campaign this week.

There are fresh reports of trouble for the President in Ohio and Pennsylvania, previously supposed to be securely in the Johnson camp.

There are also political storm signs in some of the 14 states whose governors are supporting Johnson. These states include Texas, Tennessee, West Virginia, Delaware, Hawaii, New Hampshire, Indiana, Illinois, Utah, Connecticut, New Jersey, South Carolina, North Dakota and Louisiana.

Hazelwood police said two persons in the light plane were killed in the crash which scattered pieces of the aircraft over a wide area.

The Ozark plane, Flight 965, carried 40 passengers and a crew of four.

An Ozark spokesman said the plane landed with a hole ripped in the right wing. It was losing fuel from the wing tank.

The light plane hit the Ozark plane in the undercarriage, Ozark said.

N.Y. Longshoremens' Strike Now 10 Costly Days Long

NEW YORK (AP)—An armada of some 160 idled ships clogged the nation's biggest port Wednesday as a longshoremen's strike dwindled fruit and foreign car supplies and threatened to rot tons of perishable foods.

Luxury liner passengers struggled with their own baggage and faced limited menus once they sailed because of the difficulty of getting provisions aboard ships without dock workers.

The cost of the 10-day-old walkout by nearly 22,000 longshoremen—set off by a feud with a port agency over new hiring practices—is mounting at a $3-million-a-day clip. The estimated $30 million lost so far embraces the effect on a host of innocent industries dependent on the waterfront and costs to the city economy and to communities across the harbor in New Jersey.

The strike by the International Longshoremen's Association, AFL-CIO, stranded 107 ships at piers by Wednesday and another 50 at moorings in the harbor.

SIU Women Gymnasts Hope For Win in Championship Meet

— By George Knemeyer

If confidence and team spirit can decide a sports victory, then the SIU Women Gymnasts may already have the 1968 Collegiate Championships sewn up.

Five of the women gymnasts questioned during practice following the team's 171.30 to 169.80 loss to Centenary College of Louisiana last Saturday, said they thought SIU would not have too much trouble in winning its fourth straight collegiate title Friday and Saturday.

Judy Willis, defending collegiate champion in three events said she is "out for revenge" on Centenary, even though she was not present at the meet Saturday.

"I'm sure that the whole team will turn in their best performances," Miss Willis, world trampoline and tumbling champion, emphasized.

"Herb (Coach Herb Vogel) hasn't pushed us any more than he normally does," Miss Willis pointed out. "We've been pushing ourselves."

Miss Willis is hoping the Centenary girls perform their best in the championship competition.

"Even if they do their best, we can still beat them," Miss Willis said. "And that's how we want to beat them. With Centenary at its best, there will be no question who is number one."

Would she be able to successfully defend her trampoline, tumbling and vaulting titles?

"If I can 'hit', I can win," Miss Willis said confidently.

Linda Scott says that Centenary, who will be SIU's only tough competitor, can "never" beat SIU in the upcoming championships.

"We're confident we can win," Miss Scott said. "We've been working mostly on compulsory exercises, which we won't need for another two weeks."

Miss Scott continued by say-without tumbling and tramp," Miss Schaezner said, although she feels the victory margin in the championships this year know they could beat Iowa, and did, at Iowa, by two points.

The women are hoping for a carbon copy of the men's situation, with a bigger point spread.

Reserved seats are being sold for $1.50 while general admission is $1 for adults and 50¢ for students. Sessions will be held at 1 and 7:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday.

SIU Ticket Office officials report that there are still plenty of seats available for the two-day affair.

Judy Willis

will be closer than in 1967.

"Centenary is a little bit deeper than they were last year and we're not quite as deep as we were last year," Miss Schaezner said.

Miss Schaezner also brought up the subject of team spirit.

"Team spirit has been a factor in the past and always will be," she said.

Joanne Hashimoto, the quietest and shortest (4-9) gymnast on the team again reiterated the team spirit angle.

"Spirit plays a big part," Miss Hashimoto said. "It makes for a more closely knit team."

She too felt that SIU would win, "unless we really mess up."

In speaking of the collegiate championships, nearly all the gymnasts drew a parallel situation of the SIU-Centenary battle to the men's gymnastics team and their double battle with the University of Iowa.

The men lost the first dual match to Iowa by a whopping five points. In the second encounter, the fired up men ing that team spirit is evident in that "we all pull for each other to win."

Gail Daley, who is in her last year of collegiate competition, echoes Miss Scott's thoughts on team spirit.

"We always help each other in practice with the little things," Miss Daley said. "We don't criticize each other just for the sake of criticism. We always try to be constructive."

"There is no way to beat us," Miss Daley emphasized. "Even without tumbling and trampoline (a regular dual meet situation), I know we can beat them."

Donna Schaezner, who likewise will be in her last collegiate championship, agrees with Miss Daley.

"I think we can beat them

Rogodzinski, Kirkland Tied as Saluki Hitters

Mike Rogodzinski and Don Kirkland are tied for the hitting leadership on the SIU baseball team following the team's Southwest swing of the nation during the past two weeks.

Rogodzinski, the Salukis' six-foot right fielder, and Kirkland, SIU's 5-10 shortstop, each banged out 11 hits in 38 at bats for identical .289 averages for the spring trip.

Rogodzinski, a sophomore from Evanston, also hit Southern's only home runs, hitting one against Arizona State and Arizona. He was second on the team in runs scored (8), and third in RBI's (5).

Kirkland has hit five triples, four of which came in a double-header against Arizona. The Bonneville, Ind., native also registered 38 assists from his shortstop position, but committed five errors.

Barry O'Sullivan, first baseman for SIU, also has 11 hits and leads the team in RBI's with 10 and doubles with three. He has a .269 batting average and leads the SIU team in fielding average with .985.

Rounding out the team hitting leaders are Terry Brumfield, second base, leading in runs scored with nine; Randy Coker, catcher, leading in bases on balls received with six, and on the negative side of the ledger, Jerry Snyder leads the team in strike outs with 14.

As a team the Salukis are hitting only .211 as compared to their opponents' .260.

The reason for the high batting averages for the SIU foes has been the mediocre hurling by the SIU pitching staff thus far.

The team has a combined

Mike Rogodzinski

earned run average of 4.08 although the Saluki mound corps faced some of the toughest hitters during the break that they'll face all season.

One of the reasons for the high team earned run average has been Skip Pitlock and his sub-par hurling.

Last year Pitlock had a fine ERA of 2.96 in recording seven victories against only one loss. But following the trip to the Southwest, Pitlock's ERA is a lackluster 5.50.

He has given up 21 bases on balls in 18 innings but has registered 16 strikeouts, tops on the team. His record is 1-1.

Bob Ash leads in ERA for pitchers who have hurled 10 innings or more. Ash's ERA stands at 3.38 while appearing in five games, tops on the team, and pitching SIU's only complete game of the season thus far, a four-hit performance against Arizona State.

Jerry Paetzhold leads the pitchers in innings pitched with 20 and 1/3. He has given up 21 hits while recording a 3.99 ERA.

John Susce, a junior from Sarasota, Fla., is the only pitcher with a more than .500 record. Susce won the only game in which he appeared.

SIU takes a 5-6 record into its weekend three-game series at Florida State.

San Diego Lands Hayes

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Elvin Hayes, selected college basketball's player-of-the-year in some camps, signed a six-figure contract Wednesday to play for the San Diego Rockets of the National Basketball Association.

It is reported that the 6-foot 9-1/2 All-American from Rayville, La., received in excess of $100,000 for each of the next four years.

Hayes had reportedly been offered $500,000 to remain in Houston to play for an ABA representative.

Swimmers Rested, NCAA Final Next

SIU is not expected to threaten any top team at the NCAA Swimming Championships at Hanover, N.H., this weekend, but individuals will represent Southern well.

Five SIU swimmers have qualified for individual competition while two others will compete on a relay team which could reach the finals.

The individual performers have been working out during the spring break in preparation for the NCAA finals.

Coach Ray Essick believes the swimmers are ready for the NCAA. During the break and in the early part of this week, Essick said the qualified swimmers tried "to pick up the loose ends. I'm expecting a good national championship. It should be tougher than ever before."

Heading the list of entries is Ed Mossotti, veteran freestyler from St. Louis. The strong 6-2, 195-pound senior has one of the nation's best times in the 50-yard dash of :21.2 and a top mark of :47.5 in the 100-yard freestyle. Both marks are SIU school records.

Scott Conkel, Mossotti's classmate who shares the 100-yard record with him, will challenge in that event while Bruce Jacobson will enter the 200-yard breaststroke, John Holben the 100-yard breaststroke and Vern Dasch the 500-yard freestyle.

Composing SIU's 400-yard freestyle relay team will be Mossotti, Conkel, Dasch and Bob Schoos while Bill Noyes will replace Schoos in the 800-yard relay team.

"We're pleased with the way things have worked out this year," Essick said. "Last year we had only three qualifiers and we have five this year. We've had some pleasant surprises during the season. We're ready for our major effort of the season."
